

MLK CELEBRATIONS

JANUARY 2006

STANFORD UNIVERSITY'S MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. RESEARCH AND EDUCATION INSTITUTE

Friday, January 13 Noon — 2:00 pm	Reception celebrating the inauguration of the Martin Luther King, Jr. Research & Education Institute and its new affiliation with Stanford's CCSRE. Oak Room , Tresidder Building, Stanford	Remarks by Stanford Professors Larry Bobo of the Center for Comparative Studies in Race and Ethnicity, and MLK Institute Director Clayborne Carson . Performance by Guy & Candie Carawan , noted folk singers of the modern civil rights movement.
Friday, January 13 3:00 — 5:00 pm	Annual Open House hosted by the newly formed MLK, Jr. Research & Education Institute. Cypress Hall D , 466 Via Ortega, Stanford	Join us for food and fellowship, view the museum-quality MLK exhibit in our building, meet the staff, and learn about our exciting work.
Sunday, January 15 Noon — 1:30 pm	Passages of Martin Luther King Dramatic reading of excerpts from a play by Clayborne Carson. Directed by Michael Elkins of NDNU. Memorial Church , Stanford	The play, based on King's speeches and writings, illuminates King's personal reflections on his leadership of the civil rights movement and his debates with Malcolm X and Stokely Carmichael. Co-sponsored by Stanford's Office for Religious Life.
Monday, January 16 MLK National Holiday 10:00 am — 4:00 pm	All aboard the Freedom Train! Departs San Jose Diridon Station at 10am; Parade to the SF Civic Center at noon.	Travel from San Jose (Diridon Station) to San Francisco (Fourth & King Station) on the morning of the King Holiday. Participate in trivia quizzes and other activities en route and at the SF Civic Center.
Tuesday, January 17 Noon — 1:00 pm	First He Was a Preacher: Clergy Contemplate the Life of Martin Luther King, Jr. Round Room adjoining Memorial Church , Stanford	Brown bag lecture featuring the Rev. Troy Jackson of University Christian Church, Cincinnati, OH, Rabbi Patricia Karlin-Neumann of Stanford, and notable local clergy. Co-sponsored by Stanford's Office for Religious Life.
Saturday, January 21 1:00 — 5:00 pm	Celebrating South African Freedom: A Symposium on the campaign at Stanford and throughout the world to end apartheid in South Africa. Kresge Auditorium , Stanford	The 20th Anniversary of the Free South Africa Movement is marked by panel discussions with notables active in the anti-apartheid controversy. Co-sponsored by the Aurora Forum: www.auroraforum.stanford.edu . Featuring the premiere of Connie Field's documentary film series: Have You Heard from Johannesburg? Co-produced by the MLK Institute, the Freeman Spogli Institute for International Studies, and Clarity Films.

THE MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR.
RESEARCH AND EDUCATION INSTITUTE
STANFORD UNIVERSITY
PO BOX 20532 STANFORD, CA 94309
(650) 723-2092 REGCOV@STANFORD.EDU
WWW.KINGINSTITUTE.INFO