A Dream Deferred

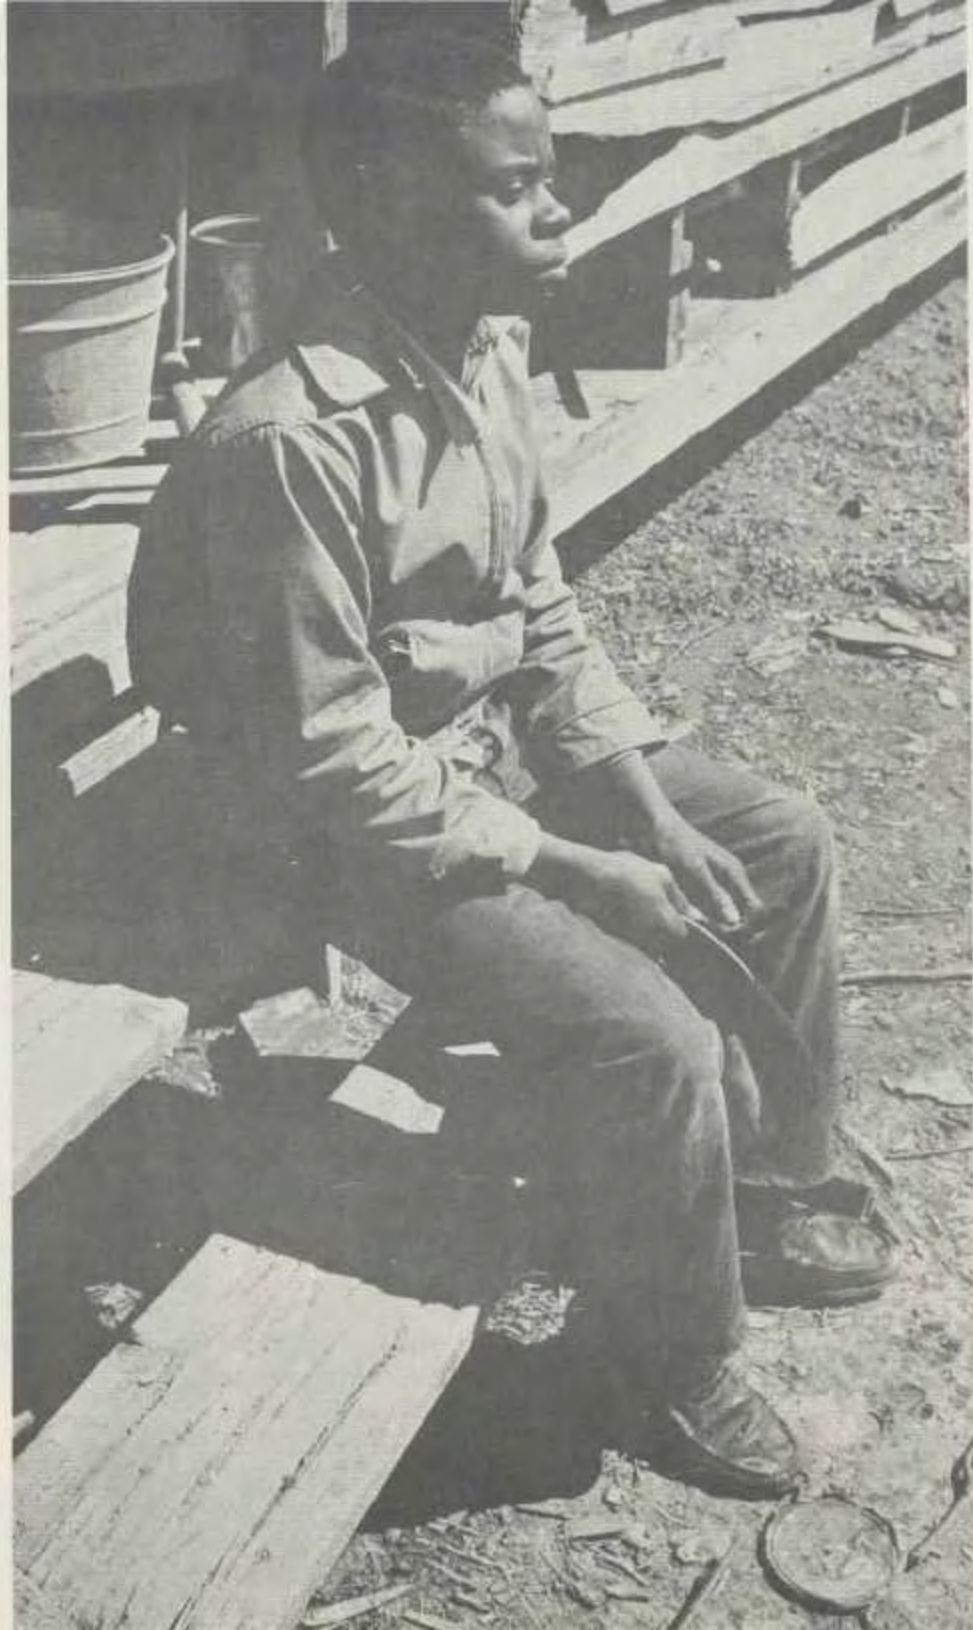

37-MINUTE FILM, 16MM, BLACK & WHITE, SOUND

"In our work in the Deep South we see daily the poverty and suffering of our Negro brothers in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and throughout the South. In A DREAM DEFERRED these people tell their story.

The question is, will you listen?"

JOHN LEWIS, Chairman, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee

A Dream Deferred

shows the conditions of poverty which are part of the daily life of millions of Southern Negroes and the deep contrast of this life with the style of life of "Southern gentlemen". ...the work of field secretaries for the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) who are engaged in voter registration, community center and freedom school programs in the Deep South ...the faces and story of Negro citizens in Mississippi and Alabama who have been beaten and harrassed by Southern police and white citizens.

BUZZ ANDERSON, Producer, Public Affairs KQED Television, San Francisco:

"A fine document of the Negro and conditions in the South that few Northerners want to acknowledge. A Dream Deferred is an appeal that must not go unnoticed. Look - listen - and above all, think!"

JIM FORMAN, Executive Secretary of SNCC

"A Dream Deferred tells the story of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee and of our fight for freedom in Mississippi. But the film goes beyond this for it expresses our concern that all Americans, North and South, black and white, get involved in the struggle in some way."

ROBERT P. MOSES, SNCC Project Director in Mississippi relates the film to the Mississippi Project:

"Hundreds of people - students, lawyers, doctors, clergymen - have decided that Mississippi is their responsibility. Together with thousands of Mississippians they are working in the freedom movement. Some have given their lives; others have been beaten and jailed; still others have been threatened. But the work continues. A Dream Deferred is the story of this movement."
