SELMA, ALABAMA--Monday, March 8--The Medical Committee for Human Rights had four ambulances ready to aid injured marchers on Sunday, but were held up from crossing the bridge by Police Commissioner Wilson Baker and State Troopers for 15 to 30 minutes. Dr. Alfred Moldovan of New York City pleaded with Baker to let the ambulances pass. Baker said: "I can't do this. It's a state matter." (Dr. Moldovan said: "even in war time, the Red Cross can go over to help the wounded, but in Alabama they don't even respect the elementary human decency.") Today the Medical Committee plans to hold briefing sessions for students about how to protect themselves against tear gas and night-sticks.

6 Negro students at Selma University walked out of school at 11 AM and were followed by 25 more who left about 2:30 PM. The students went to Brown's Chapel and drew up plans for a Student Government at school and the right to participate in the movement without reprisals. The students then marched back to the school.

At Good Samaritan Hospital, John Lewis still is being treated for a head injury.

Annie Pearl Avery and George Bess were chased out of Selma by a State Trooper. They were told to "get the hell out of town." They were followed by the troopers half way to Montgomery.

In other parts of the country demonstrations sprung up in protest to the Selma brutality:

Washington, DC--Frank, Jean, and Dale Smith attempted a sit-in today at Attorney General Katzenbach's office. A picket of the Justice Department was held all afternoon, 3 - 6 PM. At 11, representatives of SCLC, SNCC, IAM (Nonviolent Action Group, from Howard U.), NAACP, CORE, and FDP were supposed to have met with Katzenbach. Lester McKinnie represented SNCC.

Boston, Mass.--Harvard students are planning a picket and march to protest the Selma Brutality.

San Jose, Calif.--Friends of SNCC is preparing press statements and further demonstrations.

Atlanta, Ga.--60 Morehouse and Atlanta University Students picketed the Federal Building here morning and afternoon.

New York City--NY SNCC Office planned another sit-in today at the Foley Square Courthouse, the site of the U.S. Attorney's office. Tomorrow, Tuesday, a march will be held, starting from both 42nd Street and 125th Street; the marchers will meet and picket the FBI building.

St. Louis, Mo.--10 students and members of local groups picketed the Federal Building between 6 and 7 PM, and they plan to return tomorrow.

SELMA, ALABAMA--Tuesday, March 9--12:30 PM People gathering outside Brown's Chapel heard statements by Jim Farmer and John Lewis (just released from the hospital). When John appeared he was greeted by spontaneous applause. He pointed out that the only requirement for being eligible to vote in the Black Belt should be age and residence. He said further: "The march is legitimate, injunction or no injunction. Whatever we do depends on what the people want to do."

Earlier this morning telegrams were sent to the FCC in Atlanta protesting the jarring of broadcasting between SNCC citizens band radio cars and headquarters.

2:30 PM--(John Lewis)--People are assembling at the church ready to march. An injunction was issued by Federal Judge Johnson against the march (the Injunction named only 3 people: John Lewis, Mrs. Amelia Boynton and Hosea Williams of SCLC).
(Reports from Judy Richardson, SNCC office in Selma)

3:15--The march will begin in about 10 minutes. It will be led by Ralph Abernathy, James Farmer, James Forman and Martin Luther King. The crowd of marchers is estimated at 3,000. The place is swinging with state troopers who have blocked the bridge leading out of town.

3:30--The march started about 5 minutes ago. There are 21 white ministers leading the line in addition to Abernathy, Farmer, Forman and King. Between 300 and 400 ministers from all over the country are marching with the group. Some 50 white Alabamians, most of whom are members of the Alabama Committee on Human Relations. Negroes from Marion, Anniston, Birmingham, Montgomery and from the campuses of Selma U., Tuskegee, and other colleges are marching also. Some Selma school-children, carrying knapsacks and bed rolls carried picket signs. One read: "No Freedom Without Equality." Another, "Tear Gas Is Racist." The crowd is estimated at 1,500 to 2,000. About 7 Freedom Democratic Party members from Mississippi also joined the crowd, including Mrs. Fannie Lou Hamer of Ruleville, Miss., Rev. Ed King of Tougaloo, Miss., Mrs. Susie Ruffin of Laurel, Miss., and Mrs. Hazel Palmer of Jackson, Miss.

Negroes and whites are running down the streets trying to see what is happening. State police are trying to disperse them, but are more concerned with the marchers. 250 troopers are at the end of the bridge waiting for the marchers.

4:15--All people are across the bridge.

4:19--People have been turned back. They were able to get across the bridge but were stopped by state police. Then they knelt down in prayer. Now they're on their way back to town.

(report from Lafayette Surrey) --People marched to the bridge. At the bridge a Federal Marshal read to the people the injunction forbidding the march. The people continued across the bridge—a human barricade. The trooper told the people they couldn't continue the march. He said: "This march is not going to go on. This is not conclusive to the safety of the public." King answered: "We would like to continue this march to Montgomery. We want to call attention to the govern- or of the denial of voting rights of Negroes, police brutality; and we also want to talk to him about our right to march."

The officer repeated his order. Dr. King said the ministers would lead the group in prayer and about 6 ministers and one rabbi spoke. Mrs. Paul Douglas, wife of the senator from Illinois, walked to the front of the group and cheering broke out. She spoke briefly to Forman and King.

After the prayers the officer told all the state troopers to come off the highway. There was a short, quiet pause, and then Rev. King told the group to turn around and go back to the church. The group started singing. They looked at the state troopers while they sang freedom songs; the troopers heard them singing: "We love all state troopers...."

SELMA, ALABAMA—11:30 (Faye Bellamy and Louise Marshall)--Three of the northern ministers have been beaten by local whites—one of them is hurt badly. Their names are James Reeb, from Boston, who has been taken to the Birmingham University Hospital with a fractured skull (the nurse told us he was in critical condition) Huruf Miller from Boston, and Clark Olsen from San Francisco. Rev. Miller accompanied Rev. Reeb to the hospital. He (Miller) wasn't injured badly but he was beaten in the head and had his glasses broken.

About half an hour ago some white men attacked the medical wagon. It's probably the same gang that attacked the ministers.

Tonight there were two different mass meetings where there about 2,000 people altogether.

Wednesday, March 10

BIRMINGHAM, ALABAMA—Rev. Reeb of Boston is in very critical condition and is not expected to live.

SELMA—10 AM (Faye Bellamy)—A march is planned today to the courthouse. The mayor of Selma has reportedly said he would not allow the march. Police Commissioner Boggie said: "We will stand up to the people if they try."

MONTGOMERY—(Erving LaBlanc)—There will be a march to the capital today at 1 PM. Students from Tuskegee, Alabama State, Carver High School and representatatives from the Montgomery Improvement Association will participate in the march. It’s being sponsored by the Tuskegee Institute Action League. A permit to hold the march was granted by the mayor. About six or eight blocks from the church are 26 squad cars; 11 state troopers are at the State House.

SELMA--3:30 PM (Faye Bellamy)--Demonstrators are still standing in the street about 2 or 3 blocks from the courthouse. They were stopped by Police Commissioner Baker when the march first started one and a half hours ago. When they were first stopped, the students turned around and went back one block. Baker came around another street in front of the marchers. People began holding hands. They have been standing there for over an hour. There are reports that some of them have been beaten.

SELMA--4:00 PM (Charlie Horowitz)--Seven teenagers were injured today after they had attempted to march to the courthouse here. The state troopers were using billy clubs and pushed them as they were marching backward. Baker told them: "Go back to the church." The students yelled: "Freedom!" "Freedom!"

Courtland Cox of SNCC tried to tell the students to go back to the church to decide what to do and then come back again, but while he was doing this state troopers kept a line across the street and on the sidewalk of Jeff Davis Street and showed the kids who were marching backward arm-in-arm. Casey Haydel, SNCC staffer, was pulled from the line by a state trooper, had her camera taken away and was joshed up and then pushed back in line. Negro and white ministers who were on hand were shoved with billy clubs in their necks, shoulders and arms and were pushed backward. The seven kids who were injured were bruised on their arms and hands, legs and shoulders, when they fell down.

Two doctors from the Medical Committee have been taken in for questioning by the sheriff and told they couldn’t practice medicine in the state of Alabama or they would be arrested. One of the doctors, Jack Geiger, asked if some people were injured would he not be allowed to treat them—like last night when the ministers were beaten. The sheriff said: "If you touch someone as a doctor, we have to arrest you." Then the two doctors were released. Both of them said they would continue to help anyone who was injured.

MONTGOMERY--4:20 (Cliff Vaughn)--"We have been here since 1:30 and we’re planning to stay all night. We’re mobilizing forces to bring food and blankets over for all night."

MONTGOMERY (Willie Emma Scott--via Selma)--Troopers are telling the people they can go to the rear rooms, but after they go the troopers aren’t letting them back into line. Ben Clark, one of the demonstrators, organized a group of students to sit in at an intersection in the middle of the street. He was asked to get up but they didn’t get up. Police tried to run over their feet, but they drew their feet up. The police left. Clark was kicked by a policeman who took him to a cab stand and then let him go. People will sit in at the courthouse until they are able to see the Governor.

7:00 PM—(Robert Fletcher)--The Demonstrators held a meeting a short time ago, and the people decided that in protest against not being allowed to leave and come back, and not being allowed to bring doctors or food in, they will stay all night and hunger strike. Bit by bit participants have been leaving the demonstration.

7:15 PM (Sandy Leigh)—Fred Mealy, who works in the Holly Springs (Miss.) project, was arrested. The story is not clear, but we think he apparently ran toward the barricade around the demonstrators (he was outside), was knocked down by police, and taken to the city jail. He is charged with disorderly conduct and his bail is $200.00.

Thursday, March 11

2:00 AM—MONTGOMERY (Larry Fox)—About 150 people are still in front of the capitol. They are standing up now because the grass is wet. Their permit expired an hour ago, and they are still surrounded by state troopers and city police, but they have been left alone.
AROUND THE COUNTRY, demonstrations continued over the Selma situation:

Los Angeles—About 100 people went to the Federal Building. Marshals wouldn’t let them in, so they blocked all exits, including the Post Office, for several hours. Finally the Post Office workers were deputized, and began beating up and arresting people. Then the workers began to stomp on girl demonstrators, local guys began to beat them up, and a small riot ensued. 29 people were arrested, charged with a felony.

Then they had a rally. Someone announced that Katzenbach had just said in Washington that it was illegal to demonstrate on federal property. 100 more people were arrested. People lay down in front of buses being used to take people to jail. One boy was seriously hurt; we don’t know whether he was run over or beaten. About 100 people altogether were brutally arrested, beaten, dragged, stepped on.

San Francisco—2,000-3,000 participated in a demonstration at the Federal Building called by the Longshoremen’s Union.

Boston—There was a sit-in at Senator Saltonstall’s office, until he made a statement about Selma.

IN CANADA—Four hundred to five hundred students from the University of Toronto marched to the U.S. Consulate today. 30 students entered the building and demanded to see the Consul. Police dragged them out. Students from U.T., McMaster University and Carlton University sent petitions and telegrams yesterday to LBJ demanding the arrest of Sheriff Clark and protesting federal inaction.

SELMA--1:30 PM--300-400 people are still standing in the street, singing. They have been there since yesterday.

WASHINGTON, DC--2 PM--Twenty students from the High School Friends of SNCC group in Washington are sitting in at the White House.

MONTGOMERY--3:30 PM--There was an open conflict in the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church between representatives of SCLC and SNCC. It came to a head when the Chairman of the Church Board told the people congregating inside (about 500) to leave because he had given permission only to Martin Luther King to use the church, and if the people left the church in two's and three's they wouldn't be arrested.

There was an exchange between James Forman, Executive Secretary of SNCC, and James Bevel, SCLC Staff--Bevel telling the people not to demonstrate and Forman telling them that he was "going out there (to demonstrate at the State House) if I have to go alone. Anybody who wants to come with me can do so." Then Forman left the church, followed by about 80% of the students and people in the church. "When they were outside the church, city policemen (about 50) told the kids they could leave, but the kids were attacked by state troopers (about 75). They had run the kids back on the steps of the church and were beating them with billy clubs."

On the way to the Capitol James Forman was arrested along with Stu House, George Bess, Bill Hall, Bill Ware and 160 others.

When Forman tried to cross the police line, the police grabbed him and he went limp. The police jumped on him. He was trying to cross over to where the students were standing in a double line on one side of the sidewalk, arms linked and very orderly. The policemen were standing all around the kids. Forman got up again, went limp again, and then was dragged in the street to the sidewalk. He was charged with disorderly conduct.

Some of the kids who were beaten are hurt pretty badly and needed medical attention. For about an hour no doctors were allowed in the church to treat the beaten students.

6:40PM (James Forman, speaking from Montgomery Jail)- Four of us left the Dexter Avenue Baptist Church and walked down the center pavement. Then a captain and a lieutenant of the state troopers came down and said we couldn't congregate there. We told him we were just standing there waiting for some people to arrive. They said we would have to move on back down toward the church. We started walking back down and the lieutenant, of course, kept urging us to move much faster. Then we raised the question with them of whose property was this, because yesterday the city police were responsible for that particular area. This lieutenant would never give us his name...he kept pushing on us ordering us to walk across the street...We decided to walk toward the Dexter Avenue Church and crossed the street. Then the City police ran out and said we had to go back up the street to our left. So then we said well, you know, the state troopers say we have to go this way; the city police say we have to go that way. One of the guys...pushed me over...and then we stood on the curb there. The city policeman came over...the captain of the city police came up and said, "arrest the people." At that point four of us went limp and were dragged for about 50 feet to the police wagon.

In the meantime something had happened across the street where the police had a cordon of officers....they started using their billy clubs on some of the people...one of the young men with us was severely beaten over the head...Then they brought us to the city jail."

WASHINGTON, DC--9:00--Students who sat in at the White House were released. They were sitting in a foyer and would have blocked the entrance of Foreign Diplomats who were coming to LBJ's reception tonight. White House officials prevented press coverage of the incident. The students were removed in private automobiles but about the time of their removal three police paddy wagons pulled away from the White House --empty.

DETROIT, MICH.--300 Detroit citizens left by train today for Washington. The group was organized by the Council of Churches and will lobby in Washington from 10 AM to 5 PM, March 12. Half of them will go to the Justice Department and half will visit their Congressmen.

PHILADELPHIA, PA.--People sat in at the U.S. Attorney's office and were carried out on stretchers. No one was arrested.

IOWA--On Wednesday the resolution introduced in the State House of Representatives calling for federal protection and guarantees of the right to vote passed. It will also be introduced in the State Senate.
SELMA--Sometime around midnight, two people were shot while standing in the line in front of Brown's Chapel. Courtland Cox saw one of the people bleeding. It was reported that one girl got a hole in her lip and part of her tooth knocked out. The shots were from a gas-pellet gun. SNCC talked about this incident to the FBI.

MONTGOMERY--11:30 AM--The Dexter Avenue Baptist Church have been cut off. People inside haven't eaten since last night. They stayed all night protesting yesterday's arrests and the fact that they can't get a petition to the Governor. SNCC staffs in the church are Stokley Carmichael, Cliff Vaughn, Bill Hall and Robert Fletcher. The people inside have had no contact with the outside.

SELMA--12 Noon--The Selma Wall, a clothes line strung up across the street in the Negro ghetto 200 yards from the chapel, has become the symbol of protest. Wilson Baker, Selma police commissioner, promised last night that the clothes line would be dropped and the march to the Dallas County Courthouse would be allowed. But this morning Silas Norman, SNCC project director in Selma, said Baker was not carrying out his end of the agreement. State troopers' cars which were supposed to have moved from the scene appeared to strike off in the same number as in previous days this morning. Silas went to see Baker about this. Baker indicated that Sheriff Clark and Mayor Smitherman did not go along with the deal. The students groups are expected to join clergymen and peace groups all over the country to meet in Selma today. About 40-50 people are still waiting at the front of the line outside the church.

It's raining very hard, and people are covering themselves with plastic covers. They were told they could go inside the church and just have a certain number of people at the front of the line but the group refused and said that they were going to stay as long as necessary.

4 PM--The rope was cut a few minutes ago. Police commissioner Baker walked up quickly to the center of the line from the sidewalk with his pocket knife in hand and slashed the rope in two. A cheer went up from the crowd. Rev. Anderson stated he was proud his people had used discipline and had not cut the rope down. Baker said he felt the rope was cut up to "help the people," but since they didn't seem to like it, he took it down.

When the rope was up, Western Union messengers had to speak through police lines to deliver telegrams. Food trucks were not allowed to deliver to stores in the Negro ghetto. People sang: "There is a rope, that Berlin Wall, in Selma, Alabama. I'm going to stand here until it falls in Selma, Alabama. Hate was the thing that built that wall in Selma, Alabama. Love is the thing that will tear it down in Selma, Alabama.

Earlier this morning, Mayor Smitherman and Wilson Baker came within ten feet of the line and said that the decision was unanimous in a city council meeting to halt the outsiders from coming into Selma. Smitherman told the group that the city of Selma has great things planned and there had been too many marches here in the past week. Rev. Anderson asked if the mayor would lead the group to the courthouse to insure further protection. Smitherman was taken aback and didn't know what to say. People in the crowd asked if the decision by the City Council was made when Negroes were present. Baker answered for Smitherman that it was a decision by the entire City Council and was a "closed meeting." The mayor was told that Negroes in Selma had not been allowed to vote and that only 3015 of them are registered. The people said they would wait to go to the courthouse as long as it was necessary.
Telegrams have been pouring into the SNCC and SCLC offices from all over the country.

The press asked Baker what comment he had to make about Smitherman's and Clark's decision not to allow the march and he said he had no comment (privately he told reporters that for $1,000 he would turn in his job right now).

The crowd has sang freedom songs for the last 2 1/2 days. The people are going on in the 44th hour of this vigil.

MONTGOBERY--4:15--The police have blocked off all exits and all doors into and from the Dexter Avenue Church. There are about 25 to 30 students in there in addition to the SNCC staff. The water has been cut off; the phone cut off. The Board of Deacons have instructed police that no one is to enter or to leave, that no food can get in and no messages out. The only people who can get in and out are SCLC people. Food was brought there in two large cartons, but Bevel (SCLC staff) would not take the food in to the kids.

MEANWHILE IN OTHER PARTS OF THE COUNTRY, AND IN OTHER COUNTRIES

WASHINGTON.--5 PM--Picketing continued at the White House all day. The crowd varied between 400 and 2,000. About 5 PM a group of 50-60 students sat down in the middle of Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the White House. Twelve ladies sat in the White House driveway. Police moved in quickly with paddy wagons and billy sticks, dragged them off, pushing and beating them. They were arrested for disorderly conduct. Five people are in the hospital as a result of treatment at the hands of the police.

Between 600-700 people continued the vigil in front of the White House and the vigil will go on until 2 PM Sunday.

Earlier this morning the President met with representatives from Civil Rights Organizations. Lester McKinnie and Bill Nigus represented SNCC. The President explained that he hadn't acted because he felt the people shouldn't march--people would be killed. He said that Negroes had put him in office and that he was going to work for a new voting bill. Most of the President's visitors were favorably impressed with him. The President commented that the civil rights of his two children had been violated because they hadn't been able to read for the last 2 nights because of all the commotion outside.

BOSTON, MASS.--There was a sit-in at the Federal Building and the people didn't leave--they were locked in at 5 PM. There are 200 people locked in overnight and they're communicating with the outside world by walkie-talkie.

CHICAGO, ILL.--Thirty people are sitting in at the Federal Building overnight. Today 450 people walked to the Western Union to send telegrams.

CUTHEBURG, GA.--A vigil was held at the courthouse in silence and in the rain. They'll stay all night in memory of the dead minister.

NEW YORK CITY--25 people marched downtown to Foley Square and deposited a coffin at the top of the steps of the Federal Building.

TORONTO, CANADA--2,000 people marched from a rally on the steps of the Provincial Parliament to the U.S. consulate's office.

CHICAGO, ILL--18 people sat in at U.S. Attorney's office. They left before they were arrested. A continuous demonstration is being held at the Federal Building.
