Dear Friend,

Civil Rights activity in Mississippi did not cease with the end of the Mississippi Summer Project of 1964. The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, working in cooperation with COFO (Council of Federated Organizations), is continuing and expanding its work in Mississippi and throughout the South. The moral, material, and financial support for the work during the summer that made it possible for the staff and summer volunteers to function must not stop now. The nation must continue to focus on Mississippi.

Because of the tremendous need for this continued support, the New York office of SNCC has been working with students at various New York colleges in an attempt to develop educational, political pressure, and fund-raising programs. Many students have expressed a desire to meet with representatives from other schools and discuss projects that they have run, problems that they have encountered, and coordination of activities on the various college campuses for selected programs.

There will be a meeting at the New York SNCC office, 100 Fifth Ave. at 15 St., Room 803, on December 18 at 7:00 P.M. for these purposes. It is important that representatives of all schools that receive this mailing (schools where there is now SNCC oriented activity) attend, so that the broadest and most inclusive program can be developed. We hope that there will be two or three representatives from each group present, so that we can have a full discussion.

Yours in Freedom,

Alan Reich
