The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee grew out of the sit-in movement which swept the South in early 1960. In August 1961 SNCC launched its first voter registration project - in three black belt counties in southern Mississippi. By October of that year, SNCC workers had gone to Albany, Georgia and surrounding counties, and precipitated the protests of the Albany Movement.

SNCC's staff ~~number~~ ~~about~~ ~~130~~ is paid subsistence wages, and numbers about 130. The Coordinating Committee is made up of representatives from 20 affiliated local protest groups from Maryland
