Valleyview 11:30 p.m. - Talked with Andrew Lee Green. He passed a car full of police on his way home this evening late. He went to bed and was immediately awakened by a neighbor who told him there was a house fire. Green and the neighbor went to see the fire. The fire was raging still. The fire was the St. John's Baptist Church in Valleyview. The church was the first church ever used in rural Madison County for voter registration meetings. The church is located two miles from the freedom house in Valleyview and was used during the summer for a freedom school. There was no fire department present, and by the time Green reached the church there was no use calling the fire department as the building was almost totally burnt up. At 11:30 when the fire department arrived the building had been totally burned to the ground.
