Canton 8:08 About 10:00 last night Canton was entered by three policemen who claimed they had a warrant. The warrant was for an individual and not for entering the PH. They didn't show the warrant. Told to leave unless they had a specific search warrant, and responded "I'll do what I damn well please." This proximity offended that virtue of the ears of the fair ladies present and they blushed. Our project director, brave soul that he is, in formed the offices of this offense. "Well, you want to make this personal? You want to go outside." After they had been informed that they need a search warrant, they forced their way past the workers and searched the house. They telephoned the police chief about the incident. He made a fuss about being awakened. They are going to the station to make a formal complaint.
