Dear Lewis:

I certainly appreciate so much the efforts you went to to arrange the team for Mississippi this week.

I hope that it turns out to be a worthwhile experience. I have no serious questions about this since all others that have gone have felt that they were not only contributing something to an important area but also having educational experience themselves.

I will appreciate it if you can encourage the boys to write either a joint report or separate reactions and send them in to us, since we try to pass on suggestions and reactions to the National Council of Churches based on our experiences there.

Incidentally, any time that you think it would be useful for me to come and visit with students there about the civil rights situation, I would certainly be glad to do so.

Cordially yours,

Ian McCrae
