

October 3, 1964

Rev. Lawrence McGowan
Archbishop Stepinac High School
950 Mamaroneck Ave.
White Plains, N.Y.

Dear Father McGowan:

I suppose the print shop people have sent you samples of all their work, ~~but~~ so you can see that they're doing well. The print shop has given our organization a whole new perspective. Freedom School textbooks, FDP Primers, our own brochures and leaflets, new frontiers everywhere.

We had a good visit with Mr. Marquese, as I suppose you've heard. The idea of caravans coming into Miss. regularly has given the projects another ~~new~~ dimension too. We're moving very fast to overcome the old isolated feeling; our people can see evidence all over that there are people whom they've never met, but with whom they have something in common. The print shop and the food and clothing drives are both substantial contributions to that feeling. I think we have a lot to thank you for.

I have a rather substantial list of people to write to, so I should close. But I wanted to write down some of the thoughts that have been floating around in my head recently.

I'll probably write again soon. I'm preparing a fund-raising thing—also an exchange kind of program. Much of the impetus for the exchange side of it came from trying to ~~analyze~~ analyze your contribution, ~~xxxxxxx~~—why it was particularly significant, etc.

Please forgive the incoherence. Partly it's because I'm being rushed to get away, partly because it's just incoherent.

Yours truly,

(Miss) Lois Chaffee.