

Dear Alicia,

Thanks for the clarification. You have probably received another p.c. in the mail. Sent it before I get your letter. Have 3 very hectic weeks in preparation for the Challenge and this Freedom Day (like 3 exam weeks, except one must depend upon others to pull through and in exams it's just yourself.) and to take a break I spent a wonderful day in Memphis with a bunch of staff and local kids, including a girl from Eastland's plantation who had picketed and yesterday her family had to move because of a bomb threat. We saw a James Bond movie and went to the zoo. Real threats all in deprived Miss. The best part was being able to walk in intergrated groups without being stared at and getting ready to assume non-violent position. the only ones that stared at us in Memphis were the Negroes. As you can see our Freedom Day was a success, probably due to Eastland's fear of publicity. Most beautiful and happy day of my life.

What are you majoring in? any chance of you coming down next summer? Chris Hexter a Soph. history major worked on our project last summer and called the other day to offer bail money. Not too happy in school, a common malady of ex-volunteers. If there is anything I can do to help with the lack of correspondence of my 15 coherets, let me know. If you send names and addresses of the sponsors, we could include them on our mailing list, which is sent out secretically, but somewhat monthly. Just got a letter from my college and they're planning to adopt me. I would like to continue the money from you-all however, for a very good reason. One of our Wash. delegates will soon be kicked off his plantation and he is young and a good worker with 25 kids who would be invaluable for plantation work and opening up Doddsville, the town that Eastland owns just outside of Bulleville. $10/week would be enough to keep his family of 5 going in the style in which they're accustomed. We're hoping that the community will help to make their living a little more human. Would rather you handle it than the Unitarians. I shall continue to write them as though I was receiving it and can assure that he will get it and I am not attempting to make money on the deal. This may not come about since Wooster already wrote Atlanta and they may divert their offer elsewhere. Questions? FREEDOM, Linda
