

A WEEKLY REPORT FROM THE VALLEY VIEW OFFICE IN MADISON COUNTY, SEPT 5, 1965

Sunday the NAACP held their weekly meeting at the St John Baptist church about seven miles from Canton Miss, to discuss about the school desegregation of the school for the fall, a new law have put a pressure on the local people of each county stating that children that is living with their grandparent have to be two issue for them to go to school this fall, their parent have to come and get them or they have to adopt their children to the people that is their children is staying with, so this law have put a pressure on the local parent and also the grandparent. But the law is now that we are going to fight this law by the parent still sent their children to school and everyday that they is turn do the parent take what the children say that the principal said to them and the content sent their children to school, and if we can get enough complaint will send them in to the state board of education in Washington D. C. and file a complaint against the county superintendent of education, we will fight this law and still send our children to school, until we find out what is legal for our children; in madison county there is children enrolled at the white school in each county, some of the parent home have been shot in but they say that their children will content to go to white school this fall, so that they can get a better education for their children.
